New Lighthouse Guide Book

The Lighthouse book is close to completion and the publication date is quickly approaching. The Society Team working on the book, led by John Walls, is seeking your ideas and suggestions for a title.

As you may remember, the book will feature Sheringham Point, and all the lighthouses of Vancouver Island. John presented one of the sections -- by author Peter Johnson -- at the last Society meeting. It was very well received. Mr. Johnson is writing about the history of each station, it's location, and any pertinent facts or stories about the area or the station. Each section will also include photos and maps as it is essentially a guide book.

If the Society selects your book title, you will be entitled to a $100.00 gift voucher for the Lighthouse Store - for mugs, t-shirts, magnets, trivets, Lighthouse Photo Canvass, etc.

John and the team are seeking your ideas for a title. Here's an example of one that is in the running:

Title: Beacons at The Edge

Sub-title: Exploring Vancouver Island's Lighthouses

We are putting on a full court press to launch sometime in spring, and we need a working title ASAP for catalogue, advance publicity and for marketing purposes.

Send your suggestions to: info@sheringhamlighthouse.org

Please indicate "Book Title" in the subject line.

New and improved website

Please go to www.sheringhamlighthouse.org and see the new website and added content. We're still working to improve and expand the site by adding lots more information, new links and more background information. Also, for maximum transparency, we're adding more of the society's documents to the site for you to review. The "members only" section has been expanded and more documents are being added there also. (You will need a password and user ID to be able to access this section of the site, and you will be receiving an email with this information in the next couple of weeks).

Thanks to Ian Fawcett for all his work on the new and updated site. And thanks to Noella Ledrew for getting the original site off the ground and doing such a great job maintaining it with the old software for such a long time.
